New fair envisions at county fairgrounds

If the ambitious suggestion of Fair Association Manager Lee Nall becomes reality, the Fairgrounds will be host to an annual vocational and career exposition starting in May of 1976.

What Hall envisions, and has already outlined in skeletal form to the County Fair Association Board of Directors, could involve thousands of senior high school students from throughout the county.

Hall's discourse on a massive "junior expo and fair" comes in the wake of the necessity to curtail capital improvement programs.

The first "victim" of the nationally-reflected austerity is the proposed Hall of Commerce structure, now projected for the 1978-79 budget. The $1 million project's chances of being constructed by the end of this decade, though, seem remote.

The other part of the purpose behind Hall's suggestion is embodied in the fact that vocational and career education just cannot be adequately showcased anymore during the regular County Fair run each July. As Hall and the directors see it, the demand for exhibition space indoors and out is surpassing the space available.

And 4-H and Future Farmers groups are among those losing out.... through no fault of Fair management, though.

The critical financing of a career and vocational exposition could come via state funds. Hall notes that their is pending legislation that would approve funds for qualified fairs.

Without same, any such fair would probably have to be scaled down in scope, at least as compared to what Hall envisions.

He sees a one-week-in-length exposition that would be centered in the Young California Building but, of necessity, include the livestock and other display areas.

The fair, in taking the load off the annual County Fair, could include exhibits, displays and some form of competition in the fields of livestock, industrial arts, general business, musicianship, homemaking and trades. In regards homemaking or home arts, Hall calls attention to the need by this department for more space.

The former state of Washington resident believes their could be career-type exhibits...."we could get the trades and industry to come in".....and even a daily exhibition of musical talent by school bands and pop groups. In the latter area, he further envisions drill and marching competition as well as pitting of skills of marching band and jazz groups.

"We've worked in the past on putting together a band festival here in May," Hall adds. Such an event would be best suited to the Amphitheatre.

"A couple obstacles to all of this, though, would be to make participants aware that this is there expo," states Hall. "There would also be the problem of 'transferring' classroom activities to the Fairgrounds." Part in parcel with the projected time for such an expo (the month of May) is the additional problem of schools gearing up for final exams and graduation.

"We would have to correspond dates with the prospective participants.....and it also depends on the livestock," Hall for-the-moment worries aloud in contemplating drawbacks.

Reverting to the "plus" side, Halls says the expo would permit spectators to see both breeding and market animals. As it is now, County Fair-goers can only see the market animals the last week.

While on the livestock aspect, Hall informs that the Fair Board of Directors is projecting a new livestock facility for next year ....."and even with that we'll have some trouble housing all animals," Hall opines. "All in all, though, such a fair or expo would allow us to devote more personal attention to our junior exhibitors," Hall continues.

He knows of no similar exposition in the state, but listening to the fast-moving Hall, you get the distinct impression he will move mountains to see that it is accomplished.

Hall is hopeful that Fair Board President Tom Kitayama will appoint a feasibility study committee in the next couple of months.

In the meantime, one of the groups that could benefit greatly from such a fair, the 4-H, will christen the Young California Building next Tuesday when the annual pre-fair meeting is held.

With no tears

Traffic Committee now dead

PLEASANTON - The Traffic Advisory Committee died a quiet death Wednesday afternoon.

Although some might mourn its passing, its 15 members, most of whom no longer bother to attend the meetings, will not.

The Traffic Committee will be replaced by a five-member ad hoc advisory committee, composed strictly of citizens, and will be staffed by an outside consultant.

Eleven members of the present committee are either city staff or members of the city council or a city commission. And therein lies the problem.

In a memorandum presented to the six members of the Traffic Committee who attended Wednesday's meeting, Director of Housing and Community Development John Bowling explained the reasons for the long-rumored reorganization.

Bowling said, "Participation by members of the city staff has been the predominant factor." Actually, only one member of the committee, Chairman John Amps, is a "public" member with no affiliation to any organization concerned with traffic.

Periodically, citizens would appear at the meetings to discuss specific traffic problems, but usually, the committee had no audience — or outside input — for its decisions. Because of the large staff representation on the committee, meetings often turned into glorified staff sessions.

Another point stressed by Bowling Tuesday is that, often, the committee involved itself "in discussion and decision-making on specific traffic control devices at specific locations, rather than on matters of policy or the areas outlined in the Traffic Ordinance."

When the committee was first organized nearly five years ago, it "served a valuable function," Bowling said, "in that it brought key people in the community together and opened direct channels of communication between school officials, the police judge and the city police and traffic engineering departments."

Assistant City Manager Al Campbell agreed the committee was valuable in its early stages and "got the basic foundation laid", the needs were now different and thus, require a different type of committee.

Bowling explained the city has applied for a $12,700 federal grant to provide a consultant for the ad hoc committee and, while it has not yet been approved, it has received a favorable preliminary response.

That, hopefully, will free the committee from the dependence on city staff that is so predominant in the present committee. The problem was further compounded by the fact lay-offs and increased work loads allowed less time for staff to work on questions generated during Traffic Committee meetings.

The proposed reorganization, which was endorsed unanimously by the six Traffic Committee members Wednesday, will be presented to the city council in May for final action.

The committee scheduled its next meeting for July (beginning in January, the group voted to meet quarterly), and, if the reorganization goes ahead as planned, it whll probably be the last meeting of the group.

Cooper quits ABAG post after Newtown decision

The Association of Bay Area Governments vote on Harlan Geldermann's New Town has prompted the resignation of Fred Cooper, chairman of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, from ABAG's Executive Committee.

Cooper submitted his resignation to Warren Boggess, president of the Executive Committee, in a letter yesterday and indicated that he may try to pull Alameda County out of the regional agency.

Cooper cited four reasons for his resignation in the three page letter but hinted that a reversal of the Executive Committee decision accepting a negative committee report on the proposed development north of Livermore might change his mind.

Cooper's action was based on four points:

1) That ABAG ignored the Special Plan that Alameda County required of Geldermann and by ignoring that plan, "determined that they do not feel our board will in good faith carry out the requirements of this plan" (which forces the developer to come up with solutions for the problems raised in the ABAG committee report);

2) That Alameda County has done more to curb pollution problems in the valley than the city of Livermore and that ABAG should pay more attention to action than words;

3) That ABAG's action will continue to keep Livermore an all-white, middle class enclave since it ignored an attempt to develop an integrated suburb;

4) That ABAG failed to give the developer and the county time to solve the problems raised in the Regional Planning Commission's(RPC) report.

Cooper, who dramatically walked out of the Executive Committee meeting last Thursday after being cut off by acting president Leonard Grote of Pleasant Hill, added that he was "precluded from making an orderly presentation" at the Berkeley meeting.

Cooper's harshest words were reserved for the city of Livermore, which he claimed had only contributed " a lot of noise, a lot of lawsuits and (an increase) in their building permit fees to $8,000 for residential units, an action which assures that Livermore will continue to be an all-white, middle class enclave."

"I do not think that the record justified either distrust of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors nor blind faith in the Livermore city council" he continued, "except to those who think that words speak louder than actions."

He also claimed that "the results of the executive board's action is to put ABAG on record as opposing even an attempt to develop an integrated suburb." He concluded that segment of the letter by stating "I find this also totally unacceptable."

Adding that he felt many of the people who voted for the report did not recognize the implication of decision, he finished the letter by saying that he would not make the difficult choice of recommending Alameda County's withdrawal from ABAG "for a reasonable time to see whether the executive board agrees with the points made in this letter and whether it will take action accordingly."

Presently, Cooper's alternate to ABAG is Supervisor Charles Santana while Supervisor Joseph Bort's alternate is Tom Bates.

Seniors going to Disneyland

PLEASANTON - Members of the senior class at Amador Valley High School have until May 23 in which to remit the amount remaining for the June 13 trip to Disneyland.

Total cost to each student, for the roundtrip bus trip and admission to Disneyland, is $31. A deposit of $10 was to be turned in earlier this month.

Seniors will leave Amador on June 13 at 1:30 p.m. and travel to Anaheim for the party which lasts from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. This is the second year that an Amador senior class will be going to Disneyland. Last June, seniors flew south.

Camp for kids

They'll head for hills en masse

Elementary school youngsters who previously never had the opporzunity to go beyond the confines of the valley may be heading for the hills en masse this summer.

It's just a part of the programs being planned by elementary school teachers in Pleasanton for kindergarten through seventh grade students.

Coming under the banner of Outdoor Education, it marks the first time that such a program has been offered for Pleasanton kids during the summer. In the past, Outdoor Education has been strictly for fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh graders.

Jim Kimbell, the guiding light behind the summer series, says their will be three sections to the program, each with an enticing theme name:

√ Over The River and Through The Woods, a day program exclusively for kindergarten through third graders which will culminate in two overnight experiences.

√ Sleeping 'Neath The Wandering Stars, for 4-7 grades and centered around camping and outdoor skills.

√ Mountain High, back-packing for beginning and experienced youngsters in the 4-7 grades.

The total program will be skylined "Sierras to the Pacific."

The K-3 offering will be three to four weeks in length, starting on or about June 23 and going through the middle of July. It will consist mostly of day treks starting from Walnut Grove School.... with destinations being the likes of Sunol Regional Park and Mount Diablo. This primary age group will also visit local farms and ranches.

The group will meet Monday through Friday but the hours will vary depending on area to be covered.

Sleeping 'Neath the Wandering Stars is planned for a three-week segment of summer. The program, according to Kimbell, will include two single day trips to places such as Alcatraz and Muir Woods. There'll also be an overnight trip and a three-day junket (to either Big Basin State Park or Austin Creek State Park in Russian River country). The section will be culminated with a four-day trip into the Sierras, possibly in the El Dorado National Forest.

Mountain High, the fourth through seventh grade group that will emphasize backpacking, will start in the classroom with extensive training on selection of materials to carry, packing and carrying of equipment, as well as the basics of survival techniques.

This group is tentatively set to meet from June 23 to July 18.

Incidentally, this group will probably be exploring Point Reyes on the north coast, Columbia in the Sierra foothills and Yosemite National Park.

An even dozen teachers have said they're rarin' to go with this embryo summer program. Their backgrounds span kindergarten through junior high age groups.

Next step is to setup in-service training sessions and further delineate the program.

Parents and students wishing further information on this innovative and valuable summer activity are reminded that brochures will be going home to all K-7 grade parents by mid-May.

Kimbell may be reached at Walnut Grove School where he teaches a kindergarten class.

PLEASANTON - Park and recreation commissioners voted unanimously last night to change the name "Century House" to "Century House and Bicentennial Park."

The motion, by commissioner Henry Gomez, will be sent to city council for discussion and decision.

Garden clippings to be collected May 10 and 17

PLEASANTON—The dates for this community's annual collection of garden clippings have been moved back to May 10 and 17 "in order to follow the May 3 'Good Times Parade'," says an announcement this week from Pleasanton Garbage Service.

The special collection ancually encourages city residents to place garden refuse in disposable containers, at the curb, by 5 a.m. that day for free pick up. Scheduled for May 10 are Mission Park, Rose Pointe, Stoneridge, Highland Oaks, Oak Hill and Foothill Farms. The balance of the city will be collected on May 17.

Police oust strikers from park district offices

By J. VANLANDINGHAM

A band of striking employes occupation of the East Bay Parks headquarters in Oakand was swiftly broken up by police who arrested 14 strikers.

Among those arrested n the Wednesday afternoon occuation was Art Carter, Contra Costa Central Labor Council executive secretary.

Parks police said Carter and the others were booked for investigation of unlawful assembly, failing to leave after being ordered by police and entering a building without permission with the intent to disrupt the normal operations, all misdemeanors.

The strikers chanted slogans and kept demanding to see District General Manager Richard Trudeau as they squatted on the floor of the tiny board room. Communications with the headquarters were interrupted for about 25 minutes by the incident.

Trudeau was not in the building when the brief takeover occurred, nor could he be found for comment.

About an hour after the invasion, the building was back to normal and about 14 demonstrators were being booked into Oakland's Hall of Justice for investigation of several misdemeanor charges stemming from the incident.

Director Fred Blumberg who said he had been unable to reach Trudeau or the headquarters called the union's maneuver an "awful mistake."

"I feel very, very bad," said the director from Lafayette.

The strike began four weeks ago after the board refused to meet with the union on the issue of a new contract.

The key dispute in the contract talks has been the district board's proposal to remove 18 confidential or management employes from the union.

Before the communications blackout and the subsequent arrests, one union leader inside of the building told Leshner Newspapers they were prepared to remain all night if necessary.

Another union leader said the large number of police and the paddy wagon parked outside the headquarters "looked more like the storming of the Bastille than an attempt to talk about our grievances."

The swift takeover came after a noon-time rally held in front of the headquarters, off Skyline Boulevard in Oakland.

The rally was called to "commemorate our third week of being out of work," one union member said.

Suddenly a band of about 100 union members "spontaneously" marched on the administration building, pounding on the locked door and demanding to see Trudeau.

Public Safety Chief Larry Olson refused to admit them.

Then one of the members up at the door unlocked it, overpowered Olson and swept on inside the building.

Olson pulled his mace can and warned the demonstrators to stand back. But they pressed on, surging past him and Olson replaced his mace without using it.

Amador trustees delay revealing board choice

PLEASANTON - Amador Valley High School District trustees are giving no evidence of making public the names of candidates for trustee prior to a formal announcement now set for April 29.

Trustees did not state if Wednesday night's executive session brought them to a consensus as to whom they will appoint. And now further meetings, public or closed, are scheduled by the Amador board, setting up the probability that the new trustee to replace Bert Hersevoort will be decided upon out of public view.

Trustees have stated they do not feel it appropriate to make the trustee aspirants' names public.

At a special Pleasanton elementary school board meeting, also at Harvest Park, 35 parents questioned trustees on possible solutions to the attendance boundaries problem.

Unveiled last night was a composite option A, combing parts of IA through ID.

The option would create a 6-8 grade organization at both middle schools.

However, about 110 fourth or fifth graders who walk to school would be transferred to Alisal for one year.

It would also be necessary to redistribute six relocateables at $1,500 cost, four being shifted from Harvest Park and two from Pleasanton.

In an earlier joint meeting, Amador and Pleasanton trustees reviewed affirmative action policies and made several changer in wording.

It was noted again that most funding programs require an affirmative action policy.

Amador Trustee Wallace Decker initially questioned the word merit, as opposed to having "the most qualified applicant."

Other objections were directed at the alleged inconsequential placing of "women" in the wording and the seeming emphasis on hiring ratios tied to makeup of enrollment.

Malpractice insurance rates petition bid

Valley residents are among the hundreds who have signed petitions urging legal reforms to prevent the threatened quadrupling of malpractice insurance rates.

A petition which was copied and mailed to The Times yesterday, signed by residents of San Ramon, Dublin, Pleasanton and Livermore as well as by residents on the western side of the Hayward hills, states:

Increasing costs of malpractice insurance is part of the doctor's overhead that the satisfied patient pays...The plaintiff gets about 16 per cent of the malpractice award and the rest goes to lawyers and court costs. We urge outlawing contingency fees and shifting malpractice to binding arbitration (like Workmen's Compensation.)

An attached letter states, "Our parents and grandparents helped build this great America of ours and fought to maintain freedoms such as these (freedom of choice in doctors.) Why then are we letting the insurance companies dictate to us as to who will and won't be able to get malpractice insurance?g "Also, why should costs be so high as to force doctors out of business and possibly cause needless deaths because of not being able to get proper medical help?"

The message and petitions were slated to go to legislators in Sacramento, who until now have accomplished the stopgap measure of forming an insurance pool to offer the doctors a continuation of their coverage after May 1, the date Argonaut Insurance of Menlo Park has set to quadruple its rates.

Argonaut blames legal procedures and enormous malpractice awards for making rates go up. Lawyers are challenging that allegation, saying the insurance company has taken most of its losses in an economically hard - hit stock market over the past year, not in the courtroom.

Meanwhile, the medical association representing Valley doctors is taking part in a suing Argonaut for breach of contract in trying to bail out of the malpractice insurance business after they had allegedly promised to cover Alameda and Contra Costa doctors for several years more.

There are unconfirmed reports that local anesthesiologists who practice at Valley Memorial Hospital may be considering not renewing their insurance (which may cost them some $20,000 since they are high - risk practitioners) and simply refusing to p practice. That would put an end, at least temporarily, to surgery at the Valley's community hospital.

Medical officials are saying that the legal reforms they want are a year or two away from being passed in the state Legislature. Meanwhile, some are announcing an untimely retirement because of their zooming insurance rates and most are paying the quadrupled rates, then passing the cost on to the patient at as much as $10 per patient visit increase.

Volunteer Week

Keeping 'in touch' with people

Nader loves volunteers.

Not the Ralph Nader of consumerism fame, but his sister, anthropologist Dr. Laura Nader, has been taking up the cause of volunteerism.

And that should be good news to Valley volunteers, who are being honored this week, "Volunteer Week," by the many agencies they help.

Dr. Nader says in our society, professionals such as doctors, lawyers and even anthropologists have become out of touch with the public as a whole.

"This country is in desperate need of people who will translate from one segment of society to another," she said in a recent speech. "Volunteers are such translators, or intermediaries."

Dr. Nader went on to suggest volunteers in the field of medicine could band together as a lobbying force in Sacramento to bring about needed changes in the health - care system.

Valley volunteers are sometimes easily spotted—for example, the smiling "pink ladies" at Valley Memorial Hospital who bring cheer to patients and speed their recovery in ways a pill can never duplicate.

Then there are the volunteers who never think of themselves as such: the mothers who go along on a school field trip to the fire station, the fathers who give their time to Scouts or sports.

Nobody knows how many Valley residents give their time, unpaid, to further some cause close to their hearts. But estimates run to many thousands

Here are some examples;

★MUSEUM: The Amador - Livermore Valley Hisorical Society Museum has many volunteer needs, according to curator Ann Lewis.

"During the Alameda County Fair, more than 100 volunteers act as guides there," says the wife of Livermore's municipal judge, John "Al" Lewis.

"During the rest of the year, there is a constant need for volunteer help. Nine docents gave their time on a regular basis to the organization, while 10 volunteers helped out in other ways.

"Docents," specially trained museum guides, take school groups through the museum and take traveling exhibits out to classes in the local schools. Other local people with skills such as painting, carpentry, clerical and sewing are always in demand, says the curator of the little museum at the Fairgrounds

Anyone who might be interested in local museum work may contact Mrs. Lewis at 462 - 2766 or Kathy Blackwood at 846 - 4704.

★CONNECTION: People who feel lonely or upset call "Connection," a round - the - clock telephone service which may be reached at 443 - 2123.

Volunteer listeners are being trained all the time to take a regular shift once a week for four hours. Training lasts about eight weeks and consists of one weekly meetNng. In the class, trainees learn what human resources are in the Valley, some basic psychological theory and listening skills. Connection now has 38 volunteer listeners, men and women of all ages.

★VETS HOSPITAL: The huge Veterans Administration Hospital just south of Livermore has more than 250 volunteers assisting with patient care and activities for the veterans each month

Last year, the volunteers provided 54,222 hours of service.

Vets Hospital is planning their annual recognition of volunteers during Hospital Week, May 13, 8 p.m. in the hospital.

Prospective volunteers may choose from 27 different services and more than 150 different jobs. Lester J. Knott, chief of voluntary service, may be reached at 447 - 2560, extension 327.

★CANCER SOCIETY: The Livermore - Amador Branch encompasses Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin. Dr. Barry Kaminsky is chairman and medical advisor, assisted by Ellen Jalanivich, secretary, Petey Pehrson, treasurer and Carma Nordyke, public information.

Other efforts include free pap tests and breast examinations, transportation for cancer patients and visits to mastectomy patients. Besides providing those services, volunteers also provide valuable fund - raising assistance.

★LIBRARY: The Livermore Public Library has a "Service to Shut - ins" project started seven months ago, thanks to volunteers. In that time, about 200 shut - ins, too old and feeble to get to the library or temporarily laid up with an illness or injury, have been getting deliveries of specially selected library books to read. During the month of March more than 500 items were delivered.

A volunteer also assists the "Outreach Librarian" two afternoons a week with record - keeping for the program.

Sociable book lovers with cars are invited to contact Mary Jeffers at the library (447 - 2376) to get into the shut - ins project.

★VALLEY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL: Like Vets, VMH finds volunteers invaluable. The Auxiliary numbers 400 members, including the familiar "Pink Ladies" and "Juniors" in their candy - striped uniforms.

Auxiliary members man the gift shop, thrift shop, floor service, store on wheels, surgery area, information and reception desk, hospital service, emergency room and Family Health Care Center in San Ramon.

Their money - raising activities have netted them enough to pay for a large portable building behind the hospital which will help relieve crowding within the hospital.

us at least 15 years old or high - school junior or seniors may become junior volunteers. "Pink Ladies" are 18 or over. Carol (Mrs. Robert) Andrews is head of the Auxiliary and may be contacted for more information on VMH volunteering.

★SCHOOLS: Schools in the Valley, especially elementary schools, depend heavily on volunteers for the individual attention and special projects considered essential in modern education.

Volunteers come in many forms: the unpaid secretary at the front desk, the physicist who leads a discussion of science - minded youngsters, the artist who gives a weaving lesson and the mother who comes in one morning a week to tutor reading.

In the Livermore Unified School District, a volunteer coordinator has been hired half - time to oversee a huge volunteer effort involving more than 1,300 people donating some 50,000 hours of their time to the schools.

Livermore schools are open this week so local residents can watch volunteers in action. Here's the schedule: Arroyo Mocho, 9:30 - 11:30 a m.; Arroyo Seco, 8:15 - 9 a.m.; Green, Friday, 9:30 - 11:30 a.m.; Henry, 10 - 11:30 a.m.; Jackson, 9:30 - 11 a.m.; Livermore High, 1 - 3 p.m. in counseling office; Marylin, 10 - 12; Michell, Friday 9:30 - 11:30 a.m., multi - media center; Portola, 9 - 11:30 a.m.; Rancho, Thursday, 9 - 10 a.m.; Smith, any morning. The schools will be open daily unless otherwise noted.

★YMCA: The Valley's Young Men's Christian Association, located on Rose Avenue in Pleasanton, has only one full - time paid staff member, director Dick Babington, assisted by two part - time salaried secretaries. Almost the entire "Y" program is offered at minimal cost to local children thanks to volunteers who lead the Y Guides, Y Princesses, Trail Blazers and other programs in which some 2,000 children participate.

In addition, volunteers lead the annual fund drive and operate the annual Christmas tree lot which brings the "Y" revenue. The "Y" phone number is 462 - 2211 and Babington is waiting to sign up volunteers who like to work with children.

★OTHER AGENCIES: Here are some other Valley agencies and groups serving the Valley which use volunteers, along with names of their chairpersons and a phone number to call:

Vacation must: Life-saving seat restraints

Planning a spring vacation or motor trip? If you have children, the Contra Costa Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults warns: Don't put your child into a car without a safety restraint.

Automobile accidents, the major cause of death for children, seriously injure an additional 175,000 youngsters each year.

Experts estimate that 80 percent of those deaths and injuries could be prevented if parents used proper seat restraints for children, according to Dr. Washington C. Hill of Easter Seal's advisory council.

He explains that adult safety belts do not provide adequate protection for a child who is under four years of age, or weighs less than 40 pounds. In an accident, the lap belt can slip onto the child's abdomen and cause internal injury.

"Infant and toddler car restraints are the only way parents can assure safety for their children in the car," Dr. Hill advises, adding, " Parents should use their own safety belts — children learn by example."

Livermore Camera Club bests rival

"PATIENCE"
Winning photograph by Ronald Goodman

When the points were tallied, the Livermore Camera Club was tops in the club's annual competition with the Contra Costa Camera Club by a score of 145 to 139.

"The clubs are usually pretty evenly matched, and competition is stiff," admittted Livermore CC member Bill Mansfield. Richard Thomas of the Concord Camera Club was judge in the contest in which the Livermore club successfully retained its "title" for a second year.

Each club contributed 16 color slides, 8 color prints, and 10 black-and-white prints, with not more than two by any artist. Ronald K. Goodman's black and white entry "Patience" with three others scored the maximum of 8 points, a major factor in Livermore's win.

Goodman's entry was judged best in the black and white category "Patience" was also featured on the cover of the September issue of the Northern California Council of Camera Clubs ("N4C") magazine last year.

The Livermore Camera Club is a member of N4C and the Photographic Society of America. The group convenes the third Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Carnegie Building in Livermore. The public is invited to the meetings which include educational programs and competition in various phases of photography.

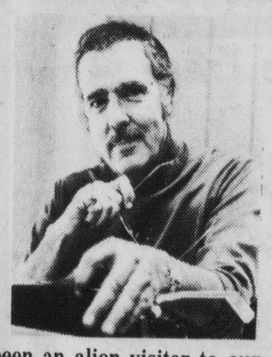
SETTING THE SCENE



Bill Hayden

The latest "THE FRONT PAGE" is a very good movie. It's big, old-fashioned, funny and beautifully acted — all this in spite of what you may have heard about it.

The Billy Wilder-I.A.L. Diamond script from the Hecht-MacArthur play is literate and properly vulgar without being offensive for one moment. Even the unnecessary expletives seem to fit into a kind of stylized 1920's vernacular. No one spoke like that even in Hechtese, but it all comes out so right that all can be forgiven.

One of the advantages of the senior-citizen syndrome is the chance it provides for endless repetition of the same old play or movie This is the third time around for "THE FRONT PAGE" in the movies. Way back when, Pat O'Brien created the role of the reporter Hildy Johnson — a newsperson to end all further definition. His frantic and conniving editor of the 'Chicago Examiner' was essayed by the impeccable Adolphe Menjou.

In the late 30's, Howard Hawks got ahold of the property and rewrote the story to fit the particular comic talents of Rosalind Russell and Cary Grant. It was a credit to the Hecht-MacArthur script that Hildy Johnson could be viable either as a man or woman. Cary Grant was less conniving and played the editor with his natural flair for comic hysteria. Apart from these variations, "HIS GIRL FRIDAY" was as good as the original.

Now comes Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau bringing their own special talents to the venerable vehicle. They are a delight to watch as is all the cast. The ancient dialogue glitters and sparkles again with a bit of the old Billy Wilder polish and the story holds up amazingly well. Corrubtion in high places hasn't exactly been an alien visitor to our portion of the planet in the past few years. It is refreshing, however, to realize that we can laugh at it and chuckle with particular glee when the baddies get their well deserved rewards of pennance and prison.

One of the unusual bits of casting in this version was letting Carol Burnett play Molly Molloy — the prostitute girl friend of the convicted murderer — so broadly. The comedienne, who has on many occasions proved she was capable of a dramatic bit, takes full advantage of this opportunity. Several people have commented that they did not feel she had provided any sense of the pathetic — an element Molly has to be loaded with — and that as a consequence she didn't generate too much sympathy in the big suicide sequence. I don't agree. The last time around, Helen Mack was Molly and her whining petulance was no more effective than Carol's brashness It just might be an impossible role to play however it's written.

The entire production is almost totally effective — except, and that's the old photography bit again. I didn't pay attention to the credits, but if the same guy who photographed "GODFATHER-PART II" didn't have a hand in it, I'd be surprised. Everything is so murky and dismal. Even in tragedy colors are vivid. To have them muted and distorted, escpecially in a comedy, is a heavy depressant that works against the comic mold. For a brief moment, I thought I was losing my power of sight. However, the second feature came on bright and clear and as I know the equipment is regulated by automation it has to be the photography that's at fault and not an errant projectionist.

Mentioning the other half of the program reminds me that I should give some sort of recommendation for "THE BLACK WINDMILL" which just happens to be a lousy title for a very exciting James Bond type of adventure. Michael Caine is the star and he handles the assignment with considerable style. Also in the cast is Donald Pleasance who can be considered one of the finest actors on the English speaking stage and in films today. There is meticulous detail in all his characterizations that puts him in the same class with Olivier, Burton and any other biggies you might care to name.

If you happen to run across "THE BLACK WINDMILL" playing somewhere it is worth your time if you're an 'adventure addict'. There is nothing particularly new, but everything is handled so well, it looks fresh and interesting.

"THE FRONT PAGE" and "THE BLACK WINDMILL" were a good combination. If we have to have double-features with our popcorn I can't think of any better.

Famed guitar quartet in May 2 concert at Chabot

The internationally-known Romeros Quartet of Spain appear in a guitar concert May 2 at the Chabot College-Community Auditorium in Hayward.

The 8 p.m. performance concludes the Hayward Area Concert Association's winter season.

Widely-acclaimed on three European tours, the quartet is currently negotiating its first tours to Australia and New Zealand. The "Christian Science Monitor" said of its concert with the Boston Symphony: "By concert's end, the listeners, having long since become collective members of the Romero family, refuse to let father and sons go, and gave two standing ovations to coax encores."

Averaging over 100 concerts per season, the group has performed with Eugene Ormandy's Philadelphia Orchestra, the San Francisco Symphony, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the Chicago Symphony and Cleveland Orchestra.

Advance purchase of tickets at $3 per person is recommended. Tickets are available at the Chabot College student bookstore, or through the mail by calling 782-3000, Ext. 414.

by Bernice Bede Osol

For Thursday, April 24, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful how you handle a family matter with your mate. If not resolved properly, it will remain an open wound for some time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Normally you're quite willing to lend a hand to friends. Today, however, you'll make it quite clear you don't want to be imposed upon.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're sharing something social today, be sure the others bring money or you'll be stuck with the tab.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're a bit too pessimistic today regarding outcome of events. Your pessimism may produce just that kind of result if you're not careful.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is not one of your better days for complete mental concentration. Later, recheck all work to see if you erred.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't lend anything today to an old friend you're fond of, but who always forgets to return things.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're likely to let others exert an undue influence over you. Think for yourself — be your own man.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You have a serious, secretive matter on your mind. You'd like guidance. Be very careful whom you confide in.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A new project will be temporarily stalled through no fault of yours. You'd be unwise to use the delay as an excuse to discard it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's very important to choose as a partner one whose ambitions are attuned to your own. The wrong choice could cause many problems.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try not to depend too heavily on subordinates today. You can obtain the best results only if you keep your hand in.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Insist upon an open, complete accounting in business transactions today. Any conditions should be put in writing.

Your Birthday

April 24, 1975

New ambitious interests will be awakened in you this year. You'll seek loftier goals. Don't be discouraged by a slow start . . . momentum will later pick up.

The unlucky expert had cornered us again. He started out with, "Team of four has to be my most unlucky game. I have three partners to toss me around there. Look at this hand that cost us a match.

"I sat West. I considered a seven-heart bid for some time, but finally gave up the idea. I was afraid that if my partner did not hold the ace of diamonds the opponents would bid and make seven spades. Obviously North was void of hearts."

"Good reasoning," we replied. "What diamond did you lead?"

"The queen. My partner took his ace, thought for a while as I sweated it out and finally led a club for me to ruff."

We have to omit the rest of our friend's talk. It was all expletives deleted. The substance was that at the other table his North-South partners bid up to five spades with their cards and when West bid six hearts, North proceeded to double. Then to complete the rout, South opened his singleton diamond. East made his heart slam with an overtrick.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three spades your partner has jumped to four spades over your three hearts. What do you do now?

Happy Trails

Mike Zampa

Tom Davis first spoke of retiring as Livermore High School football coach last November, after his team had defeated EBAL champion Dublin in the season finale.

He balked at an official announcement however until the school administration gave the go-ahead. For five months, speculation arose over his future with the Cowboys, until the word was put out a week ago Monday. Davis, as he had intimated, did resign after six seasons of directing Livermore's football team.

During the last five months it was rumored that Tom would change his mind, that the upset victory over Dublin had rejuvenated him. His boosters, who had heard the resignation rumors over the months, were encouraged when the announcement was held off through the winter. His detractors may have grumbled.

Neither side should have doubted his intentions, however. Davis was certain that cold November night that he would never coach at Livermore again.

"Six years in one town is long enough," Tom says. "You have to alienate a few people because of the decisions you make, and over the years you pick up a few enemies. I had thought about trying a seventh season, but there were too many signs along the way I couldn't stay any longer because you can end up getting extremely bitter. I've seen guys who stayed too long."

"I still love high school coaching though," says Davis, who indicated yesterday he hasn't quit the profession. Everyone from Cowboy fans right up to school board members are inquiring into the future plans of the 14-year coaching veteran. Davis isn't commenting on that score yet, but he won't rule out the possibility of another head job at another high school.

In his six seasons here, the San Francisco State graduate won two league championships, and coached teams that didn't lose an EBAL contest for a string of two years.

The final season was a devastating one, Davis said, because the results didn't attain the level of the ability.

"It got to the point where I took defeat personally, instead of realizing that hey, maybe we don't have the super athletes. "You strive for excellence, and you take the game home with you, and things build up inside. But the only pressure I felt was pressure I put on myself."

During his reign at Livermore, Davis became one of the East Bay's highly respected coaches in football and baseball. He gave up the latter post when he became the school's athletic director. Just last month he was selected as an advisory coach to the Alameda County All-Star football team, a team he coached to victory two seasons back.

Davis was nominated for the advisory job along with Washington High football coach Jim Ingrham. When it came time for the selection committee to vote for one, there was a silence. "How can you pick between these two ?" asked a committee member from Ingrham's region. Both coaches were onsidered at the top of their profession, and so both were added to the All Star staff.

"I gave it my best shot at Livermore," Davis says. "I'm not hanging my head. I won two championships in six years and that's batting .333 They'll let you stay in the big leagues if you hit .333.

"I was never a great athlete by any stretch of the imagination, and when I started coaching I didn't have any goals. I just wanted to do the best job I could and give 100 per cent."

Motivating a youngster for optimum efficiency in action is the key role of the coach, Davis says. Players responded well to him at Livermore, and that, he adds is his biggest source of pride." That and the back-to-back championships in 1971-72.

"We had to have a little bit of luck to do that though," Davis admits "The teams were all so even you needed to get the breaks. Monte Vista missed an extra point in 1972, and we beat them 7-6 A San Ramon running back fumbles a punt when they're ahead, 26-14, then we score and score again to win And we had to have the breaks when we were playing Amador with Rich Kane."

The ball began bouncing the other way the last few seasons, however as the Cowboys fell from the pinnacle. Their record in Davis' final campaigns hovered depressingly near .500. The talent waned, and injury claimed what remained.

The critics who had been silent during the championship seasons suddenly voiced their discontent. "It only bothered me when my daughter came home crying one night because of something two ladies in the stands said," Davis admitted.

The barbs and armchair quarterbacking didn't hasten his decision to step down, though the tear-streaked face of a little girl does give the heart a flutter.

What prompted Davis to quit was the dilemma of the singing cowboy. The time had come to be movin' on. New trails to blaze and all that.

His players knew of the impending departure before they closed their season with the win over Dublin. They interpreted the roaming urge in their field boss, but perhaps lamented its influence.

"We had to win for the Hoss," said quarterback Rich Palmer.

Mats clinch EBAL swim title

The celebration began early.

Exuberant Granada High swimmers began flinging fully-clothed female timers and scorekeepers into the warm-up pool halfway through yesterday's EBAL title clinching, 109-63, win over visiting San Ramon.

However, the Matadors had little reason to believe that their somewhat premature antics would somehow "jinx" the victory as only diver Wendy Morrison placed first for the Wolves, amassing 202.2 points.

Granada coach Gus DeGara, spared the traditional dousing until meet's end, was pleased with the progress of the Mats, entering this weekend's EBAL meet.

"I didn't think we'd have any problems against San Ramon, or in the league meet, so we've been working pretty hard," he said. "We're in the right place at the right time. We're peaking just as expected."

DeGara added that the Mats would concern themselves with qualifying for the North Coast Section Division I meet during the EBAL competition rather than attempting to compile a string of impressive times.

"After the weekend we're going to taper off in our workouts," he said. "We've already stopped weight work and are sharpening up with a lot of sprints."

The outspoken Granada coach had a prediction as to the outcome of the final NCS meet.

"I don't think Ygnacio Valley (who compiled over 100 points in winning last season's event) will win it. Marin County has some strong teams as does Campolindo (Moraga). One of them will win it," DeGara prophesized.

Yesterday the Matadors swam in the events they will enter in post-EBAL competition and came out with five multiple winners.

Steve Cutting, Granada's top freestyler, took two individual events, the 200 (1:56.1) and 100 (52.3) in addition to swimming the opening leg for the victorious 400 free relay team.

Chris Hoenig displayed his versatility by taking first in the 200 individual medley (2:04.9), the 100 fly (59.2) and anchoring the 400 quartet.

The Mats other fine freestyle specialist, John Rizzo, paced the field in the 50-yard chase with a 24 second time and swam on both winning relay teams.

Granada's other pair of double winners was Dave Eckard who won the 100 breast (1:01.9) and aided the 200 medley relay squad and Dave Johansen, who grabbed the 100 back (1:01.4) and competed on the relay teams. Greg Heras won the day's other event, the 500 free (5:28.4) and placed second in the 200 free .

Other than Morrison, who beat Granada's second-place Jim Tonne by 12.95 points in winning the diving, the Wolves most succesful performer was David Underwoodwho finished third in both the 50 free and the 100 free.

The Mat frosh-soph team also clobbered the Wolves, 99-41. SR got wins in the 200 free and diving but Granada's overall balance produced wins in both relays and a pair of individual heroes.

Kent Franklin, who won the 100 IM (1:19.7) and the 500 free (6:47) was, a standout as was Art Vogtlin, who captured both the 50 free (26.1) and the 50 fly (29.9); the latter coming on the heels of the Wolves second victory.

Gael swimmers churn by Armijo

Like a freight train starting slowly and gradually gaining momentum, the Dublin High swim team rolled to a 94-69 victory over Armijo High yesterday at the Gaels' pool.

In junior varsity action, the young Gaels did not fare as well, absorbing a humiliating 104-24 defeat.

Armijo started the non-league meet by taking three of the first five events to build a substantial lead. But then the roof fell in for the purple and gold, as the Irish collected first in five straight events to seal the case.

George Stone and Jeff Stewart, both of Armijo, won the 50-yard free and the 100-yard fly to put their team on top, but Bob Smith's win in the 100-yard free started the locomotive rolling for the Gaels.

Gerry Tenborg owned the one-meter diving competition, as he easily outdistanced the field, collecting 146.85 points.

Stew Burke made it three wins in a row for the red, white and blue as he took top honors in the 100 back, booking a solid 1:05 5.

Jim Craw and Glen Hoxie finished inches apart, taking one-two in the 500-yard free. Both were timed in 5:46.3, with the longer-armed Craw out-touching Hoxie for first place.

Victor Hinojosa turned in the fifth successive Dublin win when he swam 1:07.3 to take the 100-yard breaststroke.

Mark Steinhauff picked up the Gaels' first individual victory of the afternoon when he blitzed the field to clock a 1:59.3 for the 200-yard free.

The Gaels came out on top in the afternoon's initial event, the 200 medley relay. Burke, Hinojosa, Eric Steinhauff and Smith joined forces to record a 1:51.6 time, well ahead of the Armijo quartet.

Armijo went home on a happy note, as Stewart, Mike Vercoe, Dale Poncy and Stone combined talents to win the 400-yard free relay in 3:47.0.

But to quote a famous philosopher, "It was too little, too late."

Cowboys hold off Mustangs

Livermore responded to Monte Vista's bid for its first and only EBAL dual swim meet win of the season yesterday, dominating the late events to take a 93-75 victory at the San Ramon pool in Danville.

With Scott Elliott and Doug Parker coming one-two in the 100 free, the Mustangs came as close as they did all afternoon, trailing the Cowboys, 55-51.

Steve Czekala won the 500 free for MV, but the home club fell back two more as Livermore used its depth advantage in the lower places.

Paul Lohmann took the 100 back for the 'Pokes in 1:03.5, followed by teammate Dan Swanson, and the lead was stretched to 75-63.

Livermore repeated the feat in the 100 breaststroke, as Jim Happe won in 1:10.2, backed up by a satisfying 1:11.3 by Brian Hickman. Hickman flopped backwards with a whoop of ecstasy on hearing his time, then learned that one official watch had him in 1:10.8.

A Monte Vista team of Czekala, Parker, Kevin McBride and Scott Elliot took the final event, the 400 free relay, to keep the margin respectable. They were clocked in 3:42.6.

Czekala was a double winner, as he took the 200 free in 1:59.5 to go with his 500 win.

McBride also won two for the Mustangs, the 200 individual medley (2:16.4) and the 100 fly (1:01.7).

Scott Elliot was the Mustangs' other utility man, winning the 50 free in 23.8 and the 100 free in 54.5.

Alphabet blues for US-China meet

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Officials of the Amateur Athletic Union met in joint session with representatives of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Wednesday to try to iron out difficulties over a tour of the Republic of China by American track and field stars scheduled for May 15-30.

The meeting was held behind closed doors.

The NCAA has a rule that prohibits college track and field athletes from participating in such competition from the first day of formal practice until the last regular event of the intercollegiate season.

The NCAA Council has authority to waive this rule for international events such as the Olympic Games. The NCAA noted earlier that the tour of China falls during the period of final examinations in many colleges and that numerous intercollegiate track and field meets are scheduled at that time.

"The timing of the tour is bad," an NCAA spokesman said.

Joseph R. Scalzo of Toledo, Ohio, president of the AAU, said he and other AAU officials had been invited to attend the council's meeting to determine whether it will waive the rule, "and we accepted that invitation."

Falcone five-hits Astros for split

HOUSTON (AP) — Rookie Pete Falcone stopped Houston on five hits and Gary Thomasson drilled a home run as the San Francisco Giants whipped the Astros 3-0 and gained a split of their twi-night doubleheader Wednesday.

Roger Metzger drove in two runs and Ken Boswell tripled for another, leading the Astros to a 3-2 victory in the first game.

The 21-year-old Falcone posted his first major league shutout and second victory in the nightcap, outdueling veteran Dave Roberts, 1-2.

The Giants scored runs in three of the first four innings for their young southpaw. Chris Speier doubled and scored on Bruce Miller's single in the second inning.

San Francisco made it 2-0 in the third on Falcone's single, a sacrifice, stolen base and catcher Skip Jutze's throwing error. In the fourth, Thomasson hit his first homer of the baseball season.

Jose Cruz, who got three straight singles for Houston in the opener, hit safely in the second inning and scored on Boswell's triple to left field. Metzger's squeeze bunt then scored Boswell for a 2-0 Astros' lead.

Cruz singled again in the fourth inning, went to third on Boswell's single and scored on Metzger's sacrifice fly to center field.

San Francisco got its first run in the fifth. Houston pitcher Doug Konieczny walked leadoff man Mars Hill and he scored on Von Joshua's ground rule double.

The Giants scored their second run in the eighth on Bobby Murcer's sacrifice fly.

Konieczny, who needed late relief help, got his first major league victory and also his first major league hit with a double to right field in the second inning.

Kathy inherits the Babe's drive

NEW YORK — (NEA) — For young Kathy Whitworth, there was one woman who stood out in sports at the turn of the 1950s, one woman whose feats as chronicled in her daily newspaper in Jal, New Mexico, could make Kathy's eyes widen and fan her dreams of sporting glory.

That was Mildred "Babe" Didrikson Zaharias. "The Babe," as everyone called her, was an Olympic javelin and hurdles gold medal winner, a baseball player who once struck out Joe DiMaggio, a basketball star who led her team to the AAU national title three years running a, yes, football and boxing standout, a crack swimmer and bowler and skier. And, finally, the top woman golfer of her time.

A girl interested in sports had few female heroes in those days, and it was difficult for her to identify with, say, such contemporary stars as the lumpy Yogi Berra or the carbuncular-looking Casey Stengel. But The Babe was a mindful.

Her life was as grand as the ending was sad, however. In the spring of 1953 Babe contracted terminal cancer. After an operation, she returned to the tour, weak and thin, and dramatically won the U.S. Open in 1954. She died on Sept. 27, 1956, at age 43, the same day, ironically, that Kathy Whitworth was celebrating her 17th birthday.

"I felt a terrible loss," says Kathy Whitworth today. "It was such a shame, for someone so great to die so young."

Kathy by now was taking up golf, after having been an enthusiastic tennis player. She said recently that because she played so poorly at the start, golf created a challenge for her.

"And it still does," she said.

Now, though, Whitworth is the greatest money-winner on the pro tour, having won over half a million dollars since she began in 1959 at age 19. And she has more than doubled the earnings of Babe Zaharias.

The money is insignificant, according to Whitworth, in taking the full measure of the woman. Babe Zaharias was playing in an age when top total prize money for a tournament was $3,000 or $4,000. In contrast, the 1975 Colgate-Dinah Shore Winners Circle Ladies Professional Golf Championship in Palm Springs, Calif., had total prize money of $200,000, the richest in the history of women's tournaments.

"Nobody today can compare to The Babe," said Whitworth. "I never met her, but I've listened to the stories about her from some of the gals who played with her, people like Peggy Kirk Bell and Patty Berg. She had such flair.

"Once an interviewer asked how it was she played so well. She answered, 'I just loosen my girdle and belt the ball.'

"Or she'd be looking at a 40-foot putt and turn to the gallery and say, 'I guess I'll have to hole this one out.' The stories are that she did, though I'm sure there were times when she didn't.

"Peggy Kirk Bell told me about the time she had recently given birth to a child and the Babe was visiting. There was a bit of an accident and The Babe was helping. Just then, there was a phone call. It was President Eisenhower calling Babe Zaharias. The Babe said to tell the President she was busy and that she'd call back. Imagine that!

She wasn't his sister so Livermore police caught their man

LIVERMORE - A 16-year-old steak - burglar nearly put one over local police Monday afternoon by claiming he was someone else and getting a ride to his ficticious home.

Police say the suspect was being held by the manager of a local supermarket after allegedly walking out with a $2 steak.

He apparently gave investigating police a false name and address, and, handcuffed in the patrol car, was taken "home."

Alighting from the squad car he asked a young woman at the doorway "Is dad Home?"

"No," she responded as the officer admonished the youth to have his "father" call police headquarters that evening.

The suspect, by now apparently breathing deeply the sweet air of freedom, thought he was at least figuratively home until the girl asked the officer: "What's going on? This is my house."

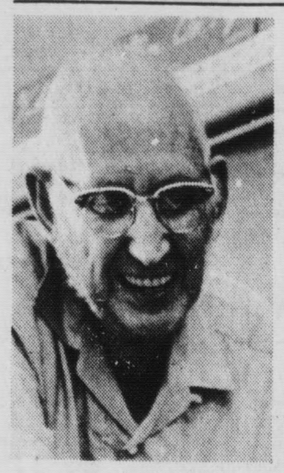
"Your brother will tell you," replied the police.

"That's not my brother," she responded, "that's (name withheld)" from down the street.

And with that, the block - long footrace began.

The suspect was re-captured, handcuffed (but not before breaking the officers watch), and carted off to police headquarters, later to be booked at juvenile hall.

The steak was returned to the market.



MURRAY DAY
retiring

Murray Day retirement fete set

LIVERMORE - A reception for retiring teacher Murray Day, who has taught at Marylin Elementary and Junction Intermediate Schools for the past 17 years, will be held May 14.

Day joins his wife, Sarah, who retired from Junction last June. He has most recently taught algebra and high mathematics for Junction's eighth grades.

Day was graduated from Samford University in Birmingham, Ala. The father of five, he was a minister in Alabama and Florida for several years.

Day was considered by students a man who taught with a firm hand, who "doesn't have a noisy class." He told students, "Math is my thing."
